Weekly check-in

One page that shows how your week really went: the numbers, how closely you followed the plan, and how you felt. Fill it in (about 5 minutes) and send it with your weekly report, in writing on WhatsApp. I read it and tell you what to change, and what to leave alone. No call.

Name:

Week from-to:

1) Weight (morning, after the bathroom, before food)

| Mon | Tue | Wed | Thu | Fri | Sat | Sun | Average |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | | | | | | | |

Compare this week's average with last week's average, not single days. Weight swings with water by 1-2 kg a day, and one day means nothing.

2) Measurements and a photo (once a week, same conditions)

Waist (at the navel):

Hips / another measurement:

3) Adherence: how closely you followed the plan

| Area | 0-25% | 25-50% | 50-75% | 75-100% |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Food / calories | | | | |
| Training | | | | |
| Steps / movement | | | | |

4) How you feel (1 = awful, 5 = great)

Energy:

Hunger / cravings under control:

1 2 3 4 5 1 2 3 4 5

Sleep:

1 2 3 4 5

Stress / mood:

1 2 3 4 5

5) In words

Biggest win of the week:

---

What snagged, and why (the situation, not guilt):

---

Questions for me:

How I read this

- ✓ I change intake only after 2-3 weeks of stalled averages, and I check adherence first. Most often "the plan isn't working" because it isn't being followed, not because the numbers were wrong.
- ✓ An average loss of 0.3-0.7% of body weight per week = the right pace. Faster than that, plus falling energy and adherence: I would rather add food than cut more.
- ✓ Hunger, energy or sleep sitting at 1-2 for a long stretch = a warning. Before another cut, we fix sleep, stress and protein.
- ✓ I start with the win. You will last far longer if the first thing you hear is credit for what you did, not only a list of fixes.
